DRAMATISCHE WERKE (8)

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 82 pages. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)86072315 Subject: Drinking water -- Contamination -- United States. Excerpt: . . . corrective action to address elevated lead levels, the states are responsible for approving or determining the nature of the treatment or other activities that will be required, ensuring that they are implemented, and periodically reporting relevant information to EPA. The Safe Drinking Water Act authorizes the states to assume primary responsibility for enforcing the drinking water program - including the lead rule - if they meet certain requirements, such as adopting drinking water regulations at least as stringent as EPAs and having adequate procedures to carry out and enforce the programs requirements. All states except Wyoming have assumed primacy for managing their drinking water programs. In addition to requiring the regulation of lead in public water supplies, the Safe Drinking Water Act also contains provisions to limit the extent to which materials in the water distribution system and household plumbing contribute to lead levels at the tap. Specifically, the act banned the use of solder and other materials in the installation or repair of public water systems or plumbing that are not lead-free. In this regard, the act established a material standard by defining lead-free to mean solders and flux containing no more than 0.2 percent lead, and pipes and pipe fittings 10 containing no more than 8.0 percent lead. In addition, the act called for development of voluntary performance standards and testing protocols for the leaching of lead from new plumbing fittings and fixtures by a qualified third party certifier or, if necessary, promulgated by EPA. A third party certifier set such a standard in 1997, limiting the amount of lead that the fittings and fixtures may contribute...
